

IASTA

IASTA is a local network of teachers, administrators and professional science providers who work together to promote science education and share resources.

INLAND AREA SCIENCE TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

ANNUAL TRIP TO QUARTZSITE, Az. 2019 AND A TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE MOON VIEWING PARTY

A ROCKHOUND'S PARADISE!

DATE: JANUARY 18 – 21, 2019

TIME: DAILY TBD

ECLIPSE: SUNDAY EVENING

LOCATION: MEETING IN BLYTHE, CA.
EXCURSION TO QUARTZSITE DAILY

This is a self-guided excursion. Members will meet to determine visits or simply go on their own and explore. We will provide our expertise from experience of attending prior years. It does change a bit every year and exploring may yield a great find.

We will conduct our IASTA meeting on Sunday Jan. 20, 2019, time and location TBD. Hotel reservations, transportation and meals are responsibility of attendees. We provide knowledge, experience and professional camaraderie with science colleagues. Members usually lodge in Blythe then trek to Quartzsite during the day in search of treasures. If you have an RV, camping and RV parks are available but busy this time of year.

For registration visit www.iasta.org and select the registration link.

If you prefer, send an email to info@iasta.org and we will send you a link.